leagues had any definite information at midnight as to how the men are responding to the strike order.

ALL GUESS WORK.

Telegrams were pouring in announcing that thousands had walked out along the different lines but the messages were based largely on guess work. As far as London is concerned, the strike has not visibly affected traffic. All trains are moving as usual and the only disorder reported was a small row between union and non-union men at the St. Pancras station. Late tonight the Executive Committee of the strikers issued a statement saying:

"Results from the provinces point to an early and decisive victory." The leaders, however, could not give details supporting this assertion.

The government has succeeded for a time in staving off the strike which had been set to begin at 8 o'clock this morning and tonight David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stepped into the breach in the House of Commons, in an endeavor further to delay the strike and bring about a settlement. But the spokesman of the railway employees refused to accept Lloyd George's views and insisted on calling the strike, even before the negotiations had been definitely broken off.

Premier Asquith's proposition was to form a royal commission of three members, one from the railway companies, one from the strikers and the third, the chairman, a man well known for his impartiality. The railway companies' representatives accepted the proposition but the employees rejected it.

NEAR MOBILIZATION.

England's army is on the move and is nearer mobilization tonight than at any time since the Boer War.

Fifteen thousand soldiers were loaded on sixty-two trains at Aldershot tonight.

The authorities refused to make public their destinations, but 4000 infantry are encamped in Victoria Park, in the East End of London, the center of its most turbulent population. Three thousand infantry are raising tents in Regent Park, another 3000 in Hyde Park, 600 are guarding the general postoffice and 600 are encamped at the Tower. The only London railway station where soldiers are in evidence is Clapham

POOR ANDY TOTH GOES BACK TO HIS WIFE.

An Innocent Man, Held Prisoner for Murder Nearly a Quarter of a Century, Says "God Is Good and One Must Not Complain Too Much."

[By DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Andrew Toth—"Praying Andy," as he was known in the Western penitentiary of Pennsylvania, where he spent twenty years, charged with the murder in the Homestead riot in 1891 of Michael Quinn, was released this afternoon by the flat of his nieces, Mrs. Mary Ziegler, No. 505 East Eighth street, and talked of his prison experience.

Toth is nearly 62. He arrived from Pittsburgh this afternoon and will sail on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie Tuesday for his old home in Hungary, where his wife and daughter await him uniously.

"It will be so good," he said, "to see them again. My poor wife, she has always written me and we have prayed together across the seas. It was she who wrote me that Steve Toth had confessed just before he died, that he had killed the man they sent me to prison for killing. I forgot the name now, it is so long ago, but I never knew him, never saw him.

"I came to this country from Hungary twenty-seven years ago, and when I left there was little baby 3 months old at my home. I have never seen her. My wife, she stayed home, but my boy, (the oldest was 11 when I left home,) have grown up and the four of them have come over and worked so hard for me and for their mother.

"It is good to have such boys. I wish they were coming back with me, but some of them are married now and have children, down in Bradlock, where I used to work till they sent me to prison. But it will be good to see my wife and she will be glad.

"Only my rosary and my prayer book were my friends when I was not working. Still God is good and one must not complain too much."

TWISTER IN ARIZONA.

Two Persons Killed, Boy Injured, Two Hundred Houses Blown Down and a Town Flooded.

[By A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Aug. 17.—Two hundred thousand dollars damage was done by the cloudburst and "twister" which swept over Winkelman and Hayden last night, according to reports received today. One woman was killed and her son suffered a broken arm and battered head from falling timbers when he tried to rescue her. The body of a Mexican child was also found in a wrecked house.

The windstorm, which was of cyclonic violence, was of peculiar origin, resulting apparently from two ridges above the city meeting on the ridge above which the main town of Winkelman is located. On this ridge nearly 200 houses, ranging from tent houses to store buildings, were blown down. Torrents of water poured down the streets of water, causing the town to be inundated and flooded Winkelman to the depth of a foot.

There were no fatalities at Hayden, but several persons were more or less severely injured, and six went to a hospital at Ray for treatment. Several buildings were unrooted, and the Mexican settlement razed.

President yesterday signed the wool bill. The free-silver bill was passed and sent to the President who vetoed it.

ONE DAY'S CONGRESS FEATURES.

PRESIDENT TAFT vetoes wool bill; Democrats of Senate break with Republican insurgents; House cotton bill passes with changes reducing duties on iron and steel, reducing duties on machinery used in manufacture of cotton 30 per cent, placing chemicals used in cotton manufacture on free list, reducing the duty on bituminous coal 45 per cent, and providing for reciprocal free trade with Canada in coal, and defeating the Bristow sugar amendment. Free list bill finally passed and sent to President for veto today.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Taft vetoed the Underwood-La Follette wool revision bill today.

The Senate Democrats broke their insurgent alliance, and through the complacency of regular Republicans, passed the original House cotton revision bill, loaded down with steel, chemical and other amendments, with which Senator La Follette and his band refused to have anything to do.

Tomorrow Chairman Underwood will move to pass the wool bill over the President's veto and will endeavor to have the House accept the Senate amendments to the cotton measure, or else allow all pending tariff matters to go over until next winter.

Gives His Reasons.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S VETO OF WOOL TARIFF BILL IN FULL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—In his -message vetoing the wool tariff
-bill, President Taft said: "I re-
-turn without my approval House Bill
-No. 11,019, with a statement of my
-reason for so doing.

"The bill is an amendment of the -existing tariff law and readjusts the
-customs duties in what is known as
-schedule K embracing wool and the
-manufacturers of wool.

"I was elected to the Presidency
-as the candidate of a party which in
-its platform declared its aim and pur-
-pose to maintain a protective tariff
-by the imposition of such duties as
-will equal the difference between the
-cost of production at home and
-abroad, together with a reasonable
-profit to American industries."

"I have always regarded this language as
-being a proper measure of protection
-between the cost of production at home
-and abroad and have construed the
-reference to the profit of American
-industries as intended not to add a
-new element to the measure stated or
-to exclude from the cost of production
-abroad the element of a manufacturer's
-profit or producers' profit, but only to
-emphasize the importance of includ-
-ing in the American cost a manu-
-facturer's or producers' profit reason-
-able, according to the American stand-
-ard.

"In accordance with a promise made
-in the same platform, I called an ex-
-amination of the Sixty-first Congress
-at which a general revision of the -tariff was made and adopted on the
-Payne bill.

"It was contended by those who
-opposed the Payne bill that existing
-rates of the Dingell bill were exces-
-sive and that the rates adopted in
-the revision statute were not suffi-
-ciently reduced to conform to the -promised measure.

"The great difficulty, however, in
-discussing the new rates adopted, was
-that there was no means available by
-which the committee could determine
-what, in fact, was the difference
-between the cost of production at home
-and abroad and have construed the
-reference to the profit of American
-industries as intended not to add a
-new element to the measure stated or
-to exclude from the cost of production
-abroad the element of a manufacturer's
-profit or producers' profit, but only to
-emphasize the importance of includ-
-ing in the American cost a manu-
-facturer's or producers' profit reason-
-able, according to the American stand-
-ard.

"The American public became deeply
-impressed with the conviction that
-in order to secure a proper revision
-of the tariff in the future, exact infor-
-mation as to the effect of the new
-rates must be had and that the evil
-of log-rolling or a compromise be-tween the opposing industries could be
-avoided and the interest of the con-
-suming public could be properly
-guarded only by revising the tariff
-one schedule at a time.

HELPING REFORMS.

"To help these reforms for the
-future, I took advantage of a clause
-in the Payne tariff bill enabling me
-to create a tariff board of three mem-bers and directed them to make a
-glossary and encyclopedia of data
-used in tariff making and to submit
-to the comparative cost of produc-
-tion of dutiable articles under the
-tariff at home and abroad."

Here the President quoted from
-his message of December 7, 1910, re-
-questing money to continue the work
-of the tariff board, and stating that
-the good results he believed would be -obtained by scientific revision. To -day's message continued:

"A popular demand arose for the -formal creation by law of a purely
-non-partisan tariff commission.
-He accordingly had decided to -do this. Accordingly it is be-ing done.

He took his sister to a local hotel
-few moments after which he
-left out of town as quickly as
-possible.

MATTER OF IMPORT.

"The business of the country rests
-on a protective tariff basis. The pub-lic keenly realized that a distur-
-bance of the balance of trade in the -tariff and a threat of injury to the -industries of the country ought to be
-avoided, and that nothing could help
-so much to minimize the fear of destruc-
-tive changes as the known ex-
-istence of a reliable source of information
-for legislative action. My desire
-was to have the matter of an impartial
-commission of facts before any
-new revision, was evidenced by an
-effort to pass a tariff commission bill
-in the short session of the sixty-first
-Congress in which many of both par-
-ties united.

"On the failure of this bill, I took
-such steps as could be made to
-make the tariff board I had already appointed
-a satisfactory substitute for the pro-
-posed tariff commission.

WORKING FOR MONTHS.

The board took some months to -investigate the methods pursued in formation which enables me to deter-

-mine that the bill supplies the mea-sures of protection promised in the plat-
-form on which I was elected.

REJECTS COMPROMISE.

"Without any investigation of which the details are available, an
-awed tariff-for-revenue and anti-
-protection bill is by compromise
-blended with a professed protection
-bill. Rates between those of the two
-bills are adopted and published, ex-
-cept that, in some important instances, rates are fixed in the com-
-promise at a figure higher, and in others
-lower, than either of the two bills.
-The principle followed in adjusting the -amendments of existing laws is, there-
-fore, not clear, and the effect of the
-bill is most uncertain.

"The Wilson tariff act of 1894,
-while giving the manufacturer free
-way to sell his surplus raw wool to
-the foreign manufacturers of wool as does the
-present bill, which at the same time
-taxes the manufacturer's raw material
-at 29 per cent. Thus the protection
-afforded to manufacturers under the
-Wilson bill was considerably higher
-than under the present bill.

CITES FORMER EXPERIENCE.

"During the years in which the
-Wilson bill was in force the woolen
-manufacturers suffered. Many mills
-were compelled to shut down. These -were abnormal years and it is not
-necessary to attribute the hard times
-solely to the effect of the Wilson bill.
-But it was at least an addition to
-other factors operating to injure the -woolen business. It is the only ex-
-perience we have had for a genera-
-tion of radical revision of this sched-
-ule, and without exaggerating its im-portance, one pledged to a moderate
-protection policy may well hesitate full
-before giving up without full infor-
-mation to explain which manu-facturers of wool were most affected by
-the new protection actually afforded to manu-
-facturers of wool than did the Wilson
-act.

"Nor does this hesitation arise only
-for fear of injury to manufacturers.
-Unless manufacturers are able to -continue their business and buy wool
-from domestic wool growers, the lat-ter will be unable to compete with
-the foreign manufacturer. This
-is supposed to protect them, because
-they will have to sell in competi-
-tion with foreign wools or send
-their sheep to the shambles. Hence,
-the wool grower is as much interested
-in the protection of the manufacturer
-as in his own.

FINISH INQUIRY FIRST.

"It may be that conditions of man-
-ufacture in this country have
-changed so as to require much less
-protection now for the manufacturers
-than at the time of the Wilson bill,
-but in view of the possible wide suf-fering involved by hasty action based
-on insufficient knowledge, the wise
-course, in my judgment, is to postpone
-any change for a few months
-before attempting to complete the pending in-quiry.

PARISH TO JORDAN.

He Tells the Secretary of State That
-the Senate Journals Are in the La-
-tler's Office.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 17.—I will
-be in Sacramento tomorrow and when
-I arrive I will show that the Senate
-journals which Secretary of State
-Jordan has announced are missing,
-are in his office. I will show that
-Jordan received all the journals from
-me and also that he received them
-from the above telegrams. The above
-telegrams were received today from Walter N.
-Parish, secretary of the Senate, who -is coming from the mountains of
-Humboldt, where he has been
-on a vacation.

"Several days ago Secretary Jordan
-was investigating the several pro-
-posed constitutional amendments to
-assent to or reject or do other
-things. Parish did his work in relation to
-them according to law and the Con-
-stitution, announced that several of
-the Senate 'official journals' could
-not be found.

"This came after the Attorney-General
-advised Jordan that he should go to the -'official journals' of the Senate and
-Senate and Assembly to determine
-what are the journals that are
-assumed to be the 'official journals'
-of the Senate.

"Parrish in his telegram says he
-will show that if there are several
-Senate journals missing from Jordan's
-office, they have been removed from
-the office since they were turned over
-to the Secretary of State.

"Jordan is to blame because they
-are missing.

Indiana Women Fight Impromptu Duel; Bath Cools Ardor of One.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SHELBYVILLE (Ind.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Quit driving my old dead leaves on my lawn," cried Mrs. Alvin Midkiff here today to Mrs. William Kemper. Mrs. K. was clearing her lawn with the garden hose, and she ignored the remark in manner very irritating to Mrs. M., who, feeling riled, clutched her broom tightly and made a rush at Mrs. K. Mrs. K., for her part, was hasty cool, according to eyewitnesses, and when Mrs. M. made her "dash" with the broom, she waited until Mrs. M. was almost upon her, then turned the hose squarely in Mrs. M.'s face. The onslaught came to an abrupt end, Mrs. M. beating a retreat, completely drenched throughout.Cost of War.*ULTIMATUM

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
EL PASO (Tex.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The government of China has made formal demand upon the government of Mexico for indemnity of $33,000,000 for the killing of Chinese subjects and destruction of Chinese property during the recent revolution. The details of this massacre are still fresh in the minds of American followers of the revolution and those familiar with the facts believe China has a clear case and that she will have the support of the other powers in the demand for reparation.

Shung Al Sune, Charge d'Affaires for China in Mexico, passed through this city today on his way to China after delivering the ultimatum of his government to the authorities in the City of Mexico. He said an interview tonight that he believed the amount demanded will be speedily paid and greater "safety" will be accorded his people in the future. Asked what would happen if the claims were disregarded, he said his government would lay the entire situation before the other interested powers and dispatch warships to enforce the demand. He said the case had been made very clear to the authorities in Mexico and they had been told what would result if the claim was ignored, or too long delayed in settlement.

PLANT EXPERTS HERE

Studying Proper Nutrition of Citrus Productions and Find Conditions Splendid—May Stay Here.

L. J. Briggs and H. L. Shantz, plant physiologists connected with the Department of Agriculture, arrived at the Alexandria yesterday afternoon from inspection of the orange and lemon orchards of this vicinity. They are accompanied by Prof. A. J. Cook, a member of the Pomona College staff.

"We have been making a close study of the proper nutrition of citrus plants," said Briggs, "and have not been out here to investigate conditions for the committee on the citrus tariff, as was rumored. What we are endeavoring to do, is to improve the present cultural methods, if such there are, with the slight exception of fertilization and some cultivation in vogue. It depends entirely on the report we send in and the official heads of the Department of Agriculture whether this will be our future place of duty."

Stokes's Lawyer Here to Enjoy Climate, Complaints Unsought History of Graham Girl is Thrust at Him.

Unable to find the amusements anticipated on his arrival here, because of persons who have insisted in bringing him details of the lives of Lillian Graham, her sister, Mrs. John Singleton, and the entire family connections, Attorney A. H. Gleason, private counsel for millionaire Stokes, will leave this morning for the East, carrying with him data that has been unsought.

"From Vancouver to Los Angeles, whenever it became known that I was the attorney for Stokes in his private affairs, the inference was at once drawn that I was here to seek evidence in the Stokes-Graham case, which is really in the hands of the Prosecuting Attorney of New York, and entirely out of the jurisdiction of any private attorney," said Gleason.

"At least seven perils had come forward to offer to proceed to New York to act as witnesses in the trial which took place in November. In addition, a collection of fine architectural studies in dwellings of the various breeds of the family have been placed in my hands so that when I return, I will have a fine story to relate to Stokes."

"Really, the whole thing has spoiled my vacation plans and I fear that I have had to get off the intended route considerably to enable many of the willing workers to come forward with their offerings."

Disorder Marks Convention of International Typos.

Lynch's Iron Sway Is Again Attest of His Power.

"Insurgents" Lose Every Attempt at "Reform."

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—Giving an account of a physical encounter between the two factions of the International Typographical Union, in convention here, in which he said about thirty members and delegates participated early yesterday morning Delegate George Koop of Chicago brought about a trial of strength between the administration forces and the "insurgents" on the floor of the convention late today. The administration, headed by President James M. Lynch, who is accused by his opponents of dominating the union, won by a vote of 113 to 102.

The vote was on a laws committee substitute to a proposal by Koop to amend the constitution, making the holding of secret sessions to influence legislation punishable by removal from office. The committee substitute leaves the matter to local unions.

BITTER DEBATE.

The vote was taken after three hours of debate, termed by old members as the bitterest ever heard in a convention of the union. Koop gave an account of the meeting purported to have been held by the members of the administration faction, in which he maintained Edward M. Besette, foreman of the Cleveland Leader pressroom, as having first emerged from the meeting.

"Yes, and you ran like a rat, you stiff!" shouted Besette. When order had been restored, Koop continued in his address, which he denounced what he termed the domination of the union by a secret ring, and offered his proposed amendment. Koop was supported by James H. Dahm of New York, Leon R. House of New York, Fred Barker of Spokane.

LYNCH GETS WARM.

"I say you and I dare you to press this matter," said President Lynch in reply. "You can't scare me, you can't outvote me, and you can't talk me. I can prove that the men who bring these charges have been holding secret meetings themselves."

Cleveland was chosen on the second ballot as the site of the next convention, receiving 114 votes to Houston's 106. The proceedings of today indicated that the place-work referendum vote of May 17 will be reconsidered. President Lynch, speaking of a proposal to require the petition of 100,000 to constitute legislation, instead of fifty, said he was in favor of the motion, but not its use in cases like that of the recent vote.

Wife of New Yorker Says Husband Took an Immense Roll From an Unnamed "Steel King."

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In her suit against her husband, Louis L. Bettis, the sporting man, for a separation, Anna R. Bettis tells of the large income which she says her husband receives from gambling operations. She mentions one instance in which she says Bettis took $140,000 in one lump from a man whom she describes as a "steel king." The papers do not give the name of the steel king.

Supreme Court Justice Bischoff last week granted $600 a month and $750 counsel fees to Mrs. Bettis. She asked for $2000 a month alimony and $2500 a month fees.

The sum named by Mrs. Bettis as having been taken from a steel king by her husband recalls the statement made by Mrs. Cecil Marsten in March, that there was little difficulty in getting alimony and counsel fees from her husband, Almarin Marsten. Mrs. Marsten said that he used to tell her of money he made from gambling, that he mentioned one instance in which he and another man took $140,000 from a man whose name Mrs. Marsten did not care to disclose.

WILL BE REACTION.

"It will take some pulling to get me out of this seat. Look down the street. All these carts are driven by their owners who are here for the same mission as myself. This country will never starve while there is anything to eat within its borders. The more the strikers hurt the community the less the community will be disposed to help them. Those who desire that they want fighting they will get it. Nobody else will fight like a hungry man or a man who has a hungry wife and children."

The correspondent talked to a portly, gray-haired Englishman on the seat of a grocer's cart, outside of Smithfield market.

"I am here for meat," said he. "The local butcher has failed us and I am after a supply for some of my customers and for my own fam'y."

CAUSE OF UNREST.

"The failure of the Board of Trade to attend its own scheme (the conciliation board) and of the railway companies to give a fair and impartial interpretation of said scheme is the primary cause of the unrest," the manifesto says, "which is not limited to any one company or grade, but is common to all."

The Home Office has given instructions to all the provincial authorities for the closing of taverns and the enforcement of special constables. The government offers to contribute half the amount necessary to pay these men.

How tenaciously the government is clinging to a hope of the settlement of the dispute, and is working to avoid range one, was shown tonight by David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose speech in the House of Commons seemed intended to convey the impression that the situation had taken a strong turn for the better.

Ramsay MacDonald, the union labor leader in the lower house, was prepared to move a vote of censure against the government for its use of the military in strikes and because of its general attitude in the present situation. Feeling in the House ran high. Mr. Lloyd-George, however, in his speech in the House, succeeded in operating street lights by smuggling men into the power station to replace the strikers who quit today.

At 8 o'clock tonight the streetcar service was suspended and additional power was diverted to supply lights for residence which previously had been in darkness. Lack of current for lights made it necessary to close the theaters.

All taverns were closed at 8 p.m. and ordered closed hereafter at 2 p.m. A further notice at the result of a conference between the Lord Mayor and nine of the Magistrates this afternoon. It was also decided to suppress the sale of intoxicants in bottle form to minimize the use of bottles as missiles.

As a further precaution the press was requested to avoid sensational head lines likely to incite disorder.

The ship-owners' committee issued a conciliatory manifesto today appealing to the strikers to resume work and enable them to withdraw the

Real Estate Man Advises

"Los Angeles," says a prominent real estate man, "has more than its share of real estate dealers. The number of real estate firms that lack even an office is surprising; in fact, they could hardly be dignified by that term. With the numerous beach and ranch properties tributary to Los Angeles, the vast majority of the real estate transactions are with out-of-town buyers. So few salesmen have the requisite facilities for handling these sales that most of them place these deals in escrow in a reliable bank and allow them to complete them. The assurance that the deal will be closed properly and the detail and correspondence the bank relieves him of makes it worth his while."

Out-of-town deals can be made much easier and simpler by placing the transaction in a bank and leaving it in their hands for completion. The Merchants' Bank & Trust Co., at 207-9 So. Broadway, offers an escrow service, reliable and trustworthy, to complete any transaction to the satisfaction of both parties is assured. Why not investigate this department? The cost is less than you would expect.

People Will Soon Tire of the Strike Shenanigans.

Hungry Folks May Take a Hand in the Fray.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LONDON, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Methods of obtaining food without the aid of the ordinary distributive services are engaging the minds of millions of British householders today. Already the supply of all the staples of diet is far below the normal in quantity and far above the normal in price. Meat, fish and fowl have disappeared from many homes. The weather man has joined the workmen by withholding food, thus purchasing the countryside, destroying pasture, running up prices of milk and butter, and stopping the supply of green vegetables.

This morning the correspondent of The Times saw flocks of lambs blocking the roads in Kent, all for sale at a shilling (24 cents) apiece, owing to the inability of farmers to obtain food for them. Householders are able to take only a limited supply b.cause ice is not delivered.

DISMAY PREVAILS.

Dismay prevails as to the heights food prices may reach next winter as the result of the combined ravages of the stock and the drouth.

Grocers are preparing to drive their own carts to the wholesale markets or to any other place where provisions may be obtained. Many of the London suburbs have abandoned hope of getting supplies from the metropolitan markets, and are reaching out into the country districts for food. Horse carts and push carts mingle with all sorts of motor cars, in the general rush for the necessities of life.

How long the motor carts will continue to run depends upon the success the garage men have in getting supplies of petrol. That important fluid in several localities has ceased to arrive in the ordinary vans, and local dealers are plunging into the distribution trade.

The correspondent talked to a portly, gray-haired Englishman on the seat of a grocer's cart, outside of Smithfield market.

"I AM HERE FOR MEAT."

"I am here for meat," said he. "The local butcher has failed us and I am after a supply for some of my customers and for my own fam'y."

GOVERNMENT'S PROPOSAL.

Ramsay McDonald, replying to the Chancellor, agreed there had been an understanding of the government's proposal and announced he would not present a motion to censure. He appealed to the members of the House having influence with the railway directors to persuade them to make it easier for the men to accept a truce.

Philip Snowden, another laborite member, asked if the government was prepared to call a special session of Parliament to deal with the strike.

To this Mr. Lloyd-George replied:

"If the recommendations involve a country-wide truce and must be dealt with without delay, I cannot imagine that anybody would object to Parliament intervening from that point of view."

STREETS OF LIVERPOOL.(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LIVERPOOL, Aug. 17.—After days and nights of turmoil and rioting, growing out of the strike of transport workers and allied unionists, Liverpool was comparatively quiet today. Troops continued to guard all public buildings and to patrol the streets. Ceaseation of rioting probably was due to the fact that the electric light companies succeeded in operating street lights by smuggling men into the power station to replace the strikers who quit today.

At 8 o'clock tonight the streetcar service was suspended and additional power was diverted to supply lights for residence which previously had been in darkness. Lack of current for lights made it necessary to close the theaters.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] MARINETTE (Wis.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A story of fascination for the life of a nomad and forfulness of home ties, is that of Mrs. Luis Belmont, wife of Paul Belmont of Chicago, who was brought here yesterday with a foot shattered by a gunshot wound. Now, Mrs. Belmont wants to go home, and will try to make ace with her husband, when she can via the hospital here.

Mrs. Belmont is the same woman so attained notoriety a week ago when she shot at John McDonnell, a messeader at Walton, whom it is alleged she had been living.

It is believed the wound the man received Tuesday will prove dangerous. Mrs. Belmont says the was fired by Peter Conforty, a way.

Greek station hand on the Soo Rail-

Aast. Dist.-Atty. E. W. Miller took a statement from the woman at the hospital today. She said she started to walk from Pembine to Dunbar on the Soo line tracks. The distance is seven miles. When within about a half-mile of Dunbar she says she met Conforty, who had been at tente to her.

"He stopped me," said Mrs. Belmont, "and tried to persuade me to go to Crystal Falls, his home, with him. I refused to go and then he demanded I go. I told him I had none. 'I guess you'll find some,' I shout your leg off,' he said. I told him again that I didn't have any money. He then pulled a revolver from his pocket and pointed it at me. I screamed and turned and ran. He fired and the bullet hit me in the front."

Mrs. Belmont says she has an uncle living at Breed. She accounts for her presence in Northern Wisconsin by saying that she could not stand the noise and dirt of Chicago and her husband sent her on a vacation. She says it has been a lively one.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOCKTON (Cal.) Aug. 17.—These nominations were made today for State officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the election to take place tomorrow:

President, Dr. T. Carpenter of Oakland; Vice-President, Judge Briggs of Fresno; Chaplain, J. W. Kavanaugh of Vallejo; Secretary, Gus Pohlman of San Francisco; Treasurer, Walter Bassett of Sacramento; Trustee, A. L. Lowe of San Mateo; Treasurer, W. W. Bassett of Sacramento; Inside Guard, J. J. Holland of Frutivale.

Bakersfield was chosen as the place for the 1912 meeting.

Mayor McCarthy of San Francisco, head of a delegation from that city, arrived this morning and was met at the depot by a delegation of officers of the order and escorted to the hall by drum corps.

This afternoon the delegates took a trip to Lodi over the traction line and indulged in a fruit banquet there under the auspices of Lodi aerie.

CATCHES FISH ON A SPREE.

Fish on Spree, Not Catcher—Here's Prize Fish Yarn from Oklahoma, Dry Place at That.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Several barrels of drunken fishes bear scaly witness of the truth of Oklahoma's finest fish story of the season, told by John Harris, a farmer who lives on the banks of the Canadian River, near Oklahoma City. Harris's heart was saddened last Wednesday afternoon when he visited the bank of the stream and discovered State enforcement officers in the act of pouring thirty barrels of beer upon the waters. But early this morning when he visited the stream he observed a school of tiny, wounded fish swimming them on the surface of the stream with all the abandon of the human "souse." Taking off his shoes and carrying with him his trusty net he started dipping them out and caught more than three barrels full before the last of the fish dove down to sleep off the effects of the beer.

The regulars, composed mostly of eastern members, who have been in control for many years, say that they are confident of retaining, in effect, the present status of affairs. The test will come with the vote for a new Grand President and the insurgent effort to defeat Frank E. Herling of Indianapolis and to elect J. J. Cusack of San Francisco.

The regulars have selected as their candidate for Grand Secretary, John S. Parry, also of this city, and they maintain that San Francisco cannot expect two grand officers.

Provoked because Parry has lined up with the opposition, the insurgents are threatening to knife him.

The administration forces say that they have the solid support of the East and of the Middle West.

Dr. Hill has been conducting experiments on the nutritive value of white and standard bread, using rats as subjects. He says that his results have been astonishing. Rats fed on white bread or flour did very badly. Many of them died; the others grew slowly, increased but slightly in weight. In six weeks after being fed on white bread or flour they weighed nearly all that they had eaten to lose weight.

The rats fed on the standard bread or flour did much better; fewer of them died and their increase in weight was more than twice as great as in those fed on the white bread.

Dr. Hill concluded that either the standard bread or flour fed something essential to growth which was not in the white flour or that the latter contained something detrimental. "Improvers" for example.

These are not the first experiments which sh. w. that mice fed upon wheat bread and standard bread, using rats as subjects, have greater nutritive value than flour. The majority of the results obtained by Dr. Hill are in accordance with those of Dr. Hill.

It is quite probable that bread which has such marked different effects upon lower animals would also have different effects upon infants and young children, and perhaps upon adults, especially the sick.

Higher animals are usually supposed to be resistant and adaptable as regards food, whereas infants are not.

Inspector Claims He Has Evidence
Drug Is Retailed at Greatly In-

Prominent Doctors Summoned to Testify in Case Against Woman.

More than a dozen prominent physicians were subpoenaed yesterday afternoon to testify in behalf of Dr. Emma Horton of No. 413 South Hill street, who is accused of having made a practice of selling morphine to known dope users. The trial of the case was started before Judge Chesebrough, at the University Police Court yesterday. An effort is being made to test a doctor's right to supply narcotics to patients.

Among those who will take the stand is Dr. C. A. Whitman, superintendent of the County Hospital, who is expected to give expert testimony as to the necessity of dope fields employing private practitioners, inasmuch as the doors of the county institution have been closed since they opened.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

EQUALITY IS COMMENDED.

Los Angeles Speaker Presents Arguments.

Pasadena Board of Trade Not Yet Committed.

Allen Is to Head a New Commission.

Office of the Times, 22 S. Fair Oaks Ave., Pasadena, Aug. 18.—T. E. Gibson of Los Angeles addressed a suffrage rally at the rooms of the Board of Trade last night.

"The function of government today," he said, "in the course of his remarks, "had invaded woman's position in life, and in cold justice we must allow the woman to have a voice in that government which has invaded her sphere of usefulness."

"The moral question, the question of defending the morality of the family, is a very great one. There are moral dangers now which did not exist years ago. As people come to live closer together the moral question becomes a greater one. Women are more moral than men. There is more chance of the majority of women's votes being right than those of the majority of the men."

"It is not because women desire to move into the sphere of men we wish to give them the vote, but because the suffragists and the government controls and takes cognizance of, have moved into the sphere of women, that we must in justice let the women have a voice."

State Senator Charles W. Bell presided and also talked upon the suffrage issue.

WOULD REMAIN NEUTRAL.

The Pasadena Board of Trade is having a hard time to keep from being dragged into the struggle waged by the suffragists and the anti-suffragists. An "a" yesterday issued the following statement:

"The suffrage meeting, which is to be held in Pasadena tomorrow night (the communication was dated the day previous) "to be addressed by Mr. Gibson, will not be held either by or under the auspices of the Pasadena Board of Trade, as previous notices of the meeting would seem to imply."

"The Pasadena Board of Trade officially has nothing to do with the meeting in question and would not favor such a meeting being held under its supervision."

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OPPOSED TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE;

"MARY E. FISCHER,

Secretary Bertonean of the Board of Trade said yesterday that the hall had been rented to the Citizens' League for last night's meeting, as it had been rented to other organizations, and that the Board of Trade itself is taking no sides, nor expressing any opinions in the question.

WILL MAKE CHANGE.

An important change is soon to be made at the City Hall. On September 1, Robert S. Allen, now secretary to Mayor Thum, is to head a City Bureau of Efficiency, then to be established, and I. N. Smith, a member of the Board of Education, will become the Mayor's secretary.

While no formal appointments have been announced as yet, it is known, yesterday, that Mayor Thum had decided on such a change. Smith had some hesitancy in accepting the Mayoral secretaryship while a member of the school board, but other members of the board have urged him to accept the office, and declared that he should not hold both offices at the same time.

The proposed efficiency department of the city is one that Mayor Thum has long looked upon with favor. It will mean the centering of the business accomplished by the different departments of the city government, which will make for the utmost in efficiency and economy of time and money, Mayor Thum maintains. If the experiment proves to be a success, it is not improbable that the efficiency bureau will become a permanent feature of the city government.

FIRST DEER.

Cole Herbert, of No. 104 South Los Gobles avenue, claims to have shot the first deer of the season in Southern California. He also claims the record for the first deer killed the year before.

Another, who lays claim to the honor, is E. G. Bangs, of Sierra Madre, who contends that a seventy-five-pounder, killed near Sturdevant's camp, the first prize to be bagged this year.

A report received last night from Mr. Wilson was that seven deer had been seen near the summit of the peak. Many hunters are upon the mountain.

ORGANIZE.

The Indiana Society of Pasadena was formally organized at a meeting held last night in the courtroom at the City Hall. There was a good attendance. The object of the organization will be to promote good fellowship between former Hoosiers, who have taken up their residence in Pasadena.

BEGIN TODAY.

Four of the ten forest rangers which the Pasadena Board of Trade asked for to protect the mountains took form yesterday morning and waded through fire to the hill for today.

A conference took place yesterday at the room of the Pasadena Board of Trade. Present were Forest Supervisor Charlton, Councilman W. T. Root, President Davis and Secretary Bertonean of the Board of Trade, and K. McQuillen, president of the West Side Water Company.

Supervisor Charlton stated that he regretted the needed funds would not admit of more extensive planning on the mountains by the government, and said the government will co-operate with the city and water companies toward the end that the most efficient protection possible against fire be obtained.

While A. L. Aldridge of No. 1120 Morton street was fast asleep last Wednesday night, a burglar forced the back door of his house, entered and carried away $120, which was in a purse in one of the pockets of a pair of trousers. The trousers were found yesterday morning in the back yard. Nothing else in the house was disturbed. The police were notified.

C. Seay, who is to succeed Henry Monahan as agent for the Southern Pacific Railway Company in Pasadena, arrived yesterday from San Bernardino, where he has been stationed.

He will take charge of the business here next Monday. Monahan becomes traveling passenger agent for the company, with headquarters in Riverside.

Owners of dogs who have failed to pay fines will be prosecuted by the Humane Society. This course was decided upon by the officers of the society yesterday.

Members of the Pasadena Gardeners' Association will go to Redondo Beach for a picnic next Sunday. They will leave in a special Santa Fe car at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

Miss Vessey, wife of Gov. Vessey of South Dakota, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Bernice Vessey, and her son, Robert, arrived in Pasadena yesterday for a visit. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert of No. 515 North Marconi avenue.

Determined to put an end to what he claims is a nuisance in the neighborhood, R. D. Johnson of No. 415 South Grand avenue yesterday put into circulation a petition urging that the city authorities find some means to compel the garage operators at 295, the same street, to keep his chimpanzee, which has recently been the cause of many wordy battles and some excitement in its cage.

BEACH TOWN IS GETTING WARM.

NEW POLITICAL CLUB AT VENICE WANTS CHANGE.

Alleges that the Abbot Kinney Company Is Dominating the Situation Too Completely and Resolutions Favoring Fifth Class City Are Adopted as Method of Relief.

VENICE, Aug. 17.—The very latest wrinkle in bayside politics and municipal affairs is the proposed circulation of a petition for the call of an election to remove Venice from the ranks of sixth-class cities and establish it as one of the fifth class, with Councilmen elected by wards. The population is sufficient for this and the proposition is being animatedly discussed by the members of the new City Club of Venice.

That organization, headed by David Evans, has proposed a method to enlighten the taxpayers, alleging that the Abbot Kinney Company is too firmly entrenched in the city's treasury. That corporation is said to control the Board of Trustees and as this body will not change until after the election next April, the easiest way of gaining control of the city is to change the charter.

Six Hundred Los Angeles Shriners Will Make Trip.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the San Diego police show no partiality in making arrests for violations of the "anti-mashing" ordinance was shown when a horse struck by Chutuk succumbed to his injuries and that as a result the local contractor is in the Los Angeles jail on a charge of murder.

It is stated today, that with the exception of the horses of the men who are filling in trenches, the horses employed by Chutuk has quit work and there are still some 1,600 feet of pipe to be laid. Any steps which are to be taken by the city in the matter have not yet been made public.

SHE CHANGED PLANS.

Ontario caught a whiff of romance this morning when Lawrence Floyd Converse and his bride, formerly Miss Anna S. Spencer of El Paso, the principals in an exciting automobile engagement, which terminated happily with a wedding at San Bernardino, last evening, paid a call at the local offices of the General Fertilizer Company, which Mr. Converse represents at Ontario and Glendora.

It was while in the local offices that young Converse decided to write a letter to the parents of his bride and have the matter off his mind and he settled himself at a typewriter with this intention. The wife of a day, however, was not so easily put out of mind and after watching what her husband was writing over his shoulder, decided that it did not suit her and that she would prefer to wait until they arrived in Glendora at the home of his parents where she would have more time to think over. So the half-written epistle was abandoned.

Converse tucked it away in her hand, probably for future reference.

Mr. and Mrs. Converse are to make their home in Claremont. They left Ontario shortly before noon, bound for Glendora.

Of the eight children born to them seven were present, the other died some years ago. Mr. Curtis is now 85 years old, while his wife is 78. They are both in the best of health.

His condition has puzzled the medical fraternity of Redlands. Mr. Miller, accompanied by J. C. Bingham and Dr. D. F. Church, will leave Sunday for San Francisco, where the case will be laid before Prof. Fuchs, a German specialist, who is at the head of the department of ophthalmology in Vienna. About six months ago Miller's eyes began to trouble him, and they have grown weaker and weaker, later had to give up his work and now he is totally blind.

MAN FOUND DEAD
ON THE BEACH.TRAGEDY ENACTED ON THE SANDS AT REDONDO.

Railroad Man After a Period of Dissipation Shakes Off this Mortal Coil by Shooting Himself in the Head—Identity of the Victim Is Somewhat in Doubt.

REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 17.—A stranger here, presumably William Sandifer, a railway conductor, was found dead on the beach just south of the bathhouse, with a bullet hole in his head, this morning at 5:30 o'clock by Charles Wennerberg, night watchman of the wharves.

Grasped in his hand, which lay on his breast, was a .32-caliber Colt's automatic revolver. The bullet had penetrated his right temple and gone straight through the head and out the left side.

In one of his pockets was a membership card which had been issued January 1, 1911, to William Sandifer, in the Order of Railway Conductors of America, Division No. 261. The card number was 2669. The card stated he worked on the Mexican National Railway. According to the catalogue of the locomotive order, Division 261 is the San Luis Potosi, Mex.

Sandifer came here Sunday and since then had been drinking heavily, appearing to be in a sort of stupor all the time. He was nice appearing and well dressed. He did not tell any one where he lived, but said he had people in Denver and he had been a railway conductor in Mexico.

A parrot chick was found in his clothes and today Undertaker George Cole secured his grip with the check from the Arcade station. The grip contained a suit of clothes and a toilet article and a number of letters, among which is one addressed Miss Minnie Sandifer, No. 115 West Dakota street, Denver, Colo. The letter had been opened and forwarded to him, as it was written to Minnie from a cousin. Minnie. It was dated Saturday, July 24, 1911. William Sandifer addressed to William Sandifer, at San Luis Potosi, Mex., is from "Minnie," who calls him dear papa.

This letter was written from Denver, and dated October, 1908.

In addition to these letters were papers showing he had worked for the Santa Fe in Colorado and for roads in Mexico. He had a Smart Set of Autograph copy of "Truxton King," and a picture of "Truxton King."

Sandifer was last seen alive last night about midnight when the night watchman saw him on the wharf and told him to go home. Sandifer was then drunk or dazed.

While he had stayed at the Saint Berdu until late night. While at the Saint Berdu he lay most of the time in his room drunk, and seeing the gun with which he killed himself, the landlady took it and kept it until he left house yesterday. At that time Sandifer said he had but a dollar left. When found, he had 15 cents in change. The body is at the Gate undertaking establishment awaiting the Coroner's inquest.

EXPANDING LIBRARY.

A petition is being circulated to be presented to the City Council asking for additional floor space in the City Hall for the use of the public library. The petitioner recommending that the entire west side of the first floor of the City Hall be placed at the disposal of the library board for this purpose.

The petition states that the necessity of increasing the appropriation for library maintenance for the coming year. The petition has now about 150 signatures and will be presented to the City Council before the apportionment of the city taxes is made for the various departments of the city. Last year about $1800 was appropriated to the library by the city and in view of the rapid growth of the library patronage the increase of books entailing additional book stacks the present room is greatly crowded during library hours.

The library trustees urge that in order to maintain the present standard of the library, the appropriation will need to be increased over that of last year to pay additional necessary salaries for assistants and for the necessary books and expenses.

The Science Society has removed from the corner of Pacific avenue to the ball room of the Hotel Redondo, which room will seat about 400, the society having outgrown the room formerly used on Pacific avenue.

"Too Old, Too."

NO LADY IN TROUSERS CAN SELL HER FINGER

THE offer of Mrs. Dr. Mary Walker of Oswego, N. Y., to sell Mrs. Reginald Waldorf, of this city, a living finger to graft on in place of her lost digit was rejected with some scorn by Dr. Fred West, Mrs. Waldorf's physician, yesterday.

"Dr. Walker is altogether too old for our purposes," declared the surgeon to whom has been entrusted the job of finding the right finger to match that taken by accident from the winsome Philadelphian. "The purposes of a musician require a smooth pretty finger with plenty of life in it. It is ridiculous that, at her age, Dr. Walker should think of selling a finger."

"Further, Dr. Walker wears pants, I understand, and this feature is not one that appeals to my patient."

Yesterday, Mrs. Walker came along for her finger to be grafted on in the County Hospital, and Dr. West, who had been called yesterday morning. His body was removed to the undertaking establishment of John R. Paul. A search is being made for the old man's relatives, but nothing has been learned about them.

DIES OF INJURIES.

Frank Gartalsain, 50 years old, the Frenchman who fell on South Los Angeles street Tuesday and broke his leg, died yesterday in the County Hospital.

His system, weakened by the injury,

was unable to withstand the operation.

At midday yesterday at 16 o'clock this morning in Choral Hall, R. A. O'Dell will speak and will instruct the chairman of the various precincts in the best methods of securing results.

SUITS PILE UP.

Other Parties Who Hold Goods, Made Defendants in Case Involving Charge of Embezzlement.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Leavitt, who recently caused the arrest of H. M. Russell, a mining operator and his wife, on a charge of having embezzled $15,000 worth of property from No. 718 West Adams street, yesterday began three suits for its recovery.

The Pacific Aviation and Motor Car Company, is one of the defendants.

It is alleged to be holding a White Steamer limousine valued at $2000.

Mr. Tilian J. Coffey is charged with having a grand piano, worth $1000 and two violins, rugs worth $500.

Martin Bekins is alleged to be storing household furniture valued at $7000.

The Leavitts declare that they were to receive the property in connection with the West Adams street house which they traded and that Russell took it out and disposed of it after the title had passed from him.

SUMMONING JURYMEN.

Important Cases to Be Tried in United States District Court—Trial Date in Cleveland Suit.

A venue for the subpoenaing of ninety persons for jury duty in the United States District Court has been issued, returnable on Tuesday, September 5. A number of important criminal causes will demand the attention of the court, including several of the Imperial land grand cases, the trial of Attorney Fred H. Thompson, involving the disappearance of $15,000 stolen from the Los Angeles postoffice by Orlando F. Altore, and several of the most important Chinese exclusion act matters, involving criminal prosecutions against a number of San Francisco Chinese merchants.

United States District Judge Van Fleet of San Francisco will hold a short session of court this morning when the trial date of the case against the officers and directors of the Cleveland Oil Company, who are charged with a violation of the postal laws, will be fixed.

FINANCE IN POTATOES.

Chinese Rancher Seeks Jobber Who Buys Carload on Credit and Puts Proceeds in His Pocket.

Alleging that he had been defrauded of $223 by an American jobber, Wong Il-Kee, a rancher, was given an embezzlement complaint yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Hammon. Kee says he shipped a car of potatoes from his ranch at Glendale, to Isaac Lewis, a vegetable jobber of Venice, and has been unable to get in contact with him. Lewis, he learned, however, that Lewis had paid the car for $223 and defamed.

Lewis is well known in Venice. Until a short time ago he conducted a vegetable and fruit exchange near St. Marks Hotel. He had done business with Kee before, and was apparently sincere.

OUTING FOR NEBRASKANS.

Several favorite sons and at least one popular daughter of the state will be speakers at the Nebraska picnic, to be held at Long Beach tomorrow. Among them will be J. W. Morris, E. E. Newbranch, owner of the Omaha World-Herald; Judge R. S. Richardson, S. M. Saenger, Euclid Martin and Mrs. L. Troyer.

Still on the Trail.

BURNS OFF TO NORTH AFTER MORE EVIDENCE.

DETECTIVE W. J. BURNS, Police Detective Sergeant Biddinger and Reed of Chicago, and Sherman Burns sailed on the steamer Yale for San Francisco yesterday. They will remain in the northern city for a week or ten days, and then continue on to Seattle and Portland. They will be gone about four weeks in all, returning to Los Angeles for the opening of the McNamara case, October 11.

In the north Burns will continue the work that he was engaged on here.

He will confer with his associates,

the police attaches and women who have been summoned to attend the McNamara trial. He will go over every bit of evidence thoroughly, and get it into shape for presentation to the jury by Capt. Fredericks and his assistants.

"Have you met my local man?"

"Oh yes," said Burns.

"He is a good fellow."

ention of South Main Street property owners that they don't want to pay for two jobs of tree improvement at same time held by Council.

ain street, from Thirty-seventh to Slauson avenue, will not be paved for the present at least. The recommendation of the Board of Public Works asking that the City Engineer be instructed to prepare an ordinance of intention, was turned down by the Council yesterday afternoon. The matter will again come before the Council next week, when it is expected that a number of interested property owners will be present. Betkowski, Gregory, Williams, Whiffen will oppose the paving. Betkowski championed the cause of property owners on Main street when these points, saying that the street was improved some time ago under the Vrooman act; that bonds were issued for grading, graveling, oiling the street; that the committee was regular in its acceptance of the work.

Opposed asking those people pay for paving the street until they have paid up on the other work, he recommendation of the Board of Public Works was made at the meeting of the property owners on Nineteenth avenue, on which street was adopted and the work ordered, is opposed to paving until the street above them is paved, and the third thinks they are right.

Gregory said the people below Slauson avenue are not in favor of paving the street, and he is in favor of stopping the work until the work above one.

It was stated that a petition is in circulation to have the name of Main street changed to Broadway from Fifteenth street to the city limits and that nothing should be done l the change of name is made.

VACCINATION LAW.

IT MAKES EXTRA WORK.

The new vaccination law will impose an extra hard task on Health Commissioner Powers and his assistants. In past years all school children had to have their vaccination certificates approved before entering school.

he Hurd law, which became effective a few months ago, and which passed, in order to accommodate children of parents who are opposed to vaccination, has increased the work of all health departments in state.

he law requires that the pupils all schools, public or private, must be vaccinated unless their parents or guardians file with the Health Committee a certificate, stating that they are conscientiously opposed to vaccination of physical disabilities children cannot be vaccinated without injury to their health.

he law also requires the Health Commissioner to keep various records. Powers states that unless he is able to get the Superintendent of Public Schools to help him out by having teachers make out duplicates of the records more help, as there are more than 60,000 school children in the city.

CROSS-TOWN LINE.

he Municipal League yesterday sent following message to the Board of Public Utilities:

We request that the time is there is need for the establishment of cross-town street car franchises.

ROSES LEFT FOR JUDGE GO TO REPORTER'S WIFE.

Woman Whom Court Severs from Husband Sends Grateful Token, Which Fails to Reach Intended Person—Husband of Recipient Thanks His Honor.

A judge can pray ever so deeply into family affairs and make women tell all of the details of the little unpleasantness between them and their husbands and still be a nice man. At least such is the opinion of one attractive woman who is a widow by the grace of Judge Conley.

Notwithstanding the fact that the judge smilingly called to her clear across the courtroom, "where did you find that man?" after he had heard about her husband, and she was a little chagrinned, Mrs. Ethel Clemence apparently carried away a good opinion of the court Wednesday.

Court adjourned at noon and judge, clerk and bailiff fled away to find a cool spot. Even Willis Tiffany, the official reporter, took advantage of the lull in duties to indulge in a little gossip. The reporter, Miss A. Milledeth, who assists the stenographer. She was merely a little late in getting back to her work.

Meantime a swift-footed youngster with a messenger's uniform on his back and a long box, bearing the label

Los Angeles do constitute a monopoly—it has secured these privileges on the basis of its fulfilling an important public function. An essential of such fulfillment, for example, is the putting in of cross-town lines at reasonable intervals, for the convenience of its patrons. The city ought to be in a position to enforce such extensions, particularly if it can be shown, as we believe it can be, that the income of the road amply justifies the expenditure."

New Fire Laws Adopted.

The amendments to the building ordinance regulating fire escapes and the construction of walls in factory buildings, which was recommended by the Legislation Committee, particularly held up at the request of the Los Angeles Realty Board, was adopted yesterday. All class "A" buildings hereafter will have to be provided with first escape stairs and stand pipes. All three-story buildings used for factory purposes must have fire escapes and rooms and apartment-houses and hotels must have stairways illuminated with a white light.

Burns Gets Money.

The Council authorized the City Treasurer to transfer from the general expense fund to the Mayor's fund $7460.50, which the Mayor paid to William J. Burns, in full settlement of Burns' expenses for running down the alleged dynamiters amounted to $20,740. He has been paid $12,000.

Dodges Junketing Trip.

City Engineer Hamlin has declined to go on the proposed junketing trip with Inspector Humphreys to inspect the County's eastern cities. Although the Council approved $1000 for that purpose, Hamlin insists that the duties of his office have grown so great, that he cannot find time to go. His request was not granted by the Council yesterday, although it was recommended by the Board of Public Works. It was referred to the Public Welfare Committee with instructions that Hamlin be induced to change his mind or that some good man be found to take his place.

Annexation Election.

The Council adopted an ordinance fixing the date of a special election for Friday, September 22, when the people will vote for or against annexing the land adjoining the city on the north and northeast, and to pay certain bonded indebtedness of the city.

Money for Shrines.

The Finance Committee promised Motley H. Flint yesterday it would recommend an appropriation to the council to help defray the expenses of establishing the Mystery Shrines next May. Flint made a strong case for a liberal amount. He insisted the entire city should bear a share of the burden, because of the big advertisement which it will get.

Mayor Gets Phone.

The Council yesterday adopted the recommendation of the Santa Claus Committee that a private telephone be placed in the Mayor's office, which is to be connected directly with the central office of the telephone company and not with the city's private exchange. It will cost the city $60 a year. The Mayor was given his choice of telephones and chose the Sunset.

SPITE FENCES NOT BARRED.

The proposed spite fence ordinance was killed by the Legislature. In past years all school children had to have their vaccination certificates approved before entering school.

City Hall Notes.

The request of the Santa Monica Road Race Committee that October 3 be declared a general holiday so that the people could have a chance to see the road races, was denied by the Council yesterday on the recommendation of the Public Welfare Committee.

Kountze Brothers of New York, have been chosen to handle the harbor and power bonds, on the recommendation of the Board of Public Works.

The resolution prepared by the Harbor Committee and endorsed by the United States government to exchange small tract of land consisting of seven and three-quarters acres, which it had on a temporary concession for a like amount of land now belonging to the city, adjoining the government reservation, was adopted by the Council.

The ordinance declaring the Huntington concessions at San Pedro harbor public property was adopted yesterday. This ordinance was a repetition of one passed more than a year ago, but was necessary to account for a state law adopted last winter regarding tide lands.

President Works of the Board of Public Utilities announced yesterday that the board will hold a public meeting today to discuss the proposed cross-town street car franchises.

Meantime a swift-footed youngster with a messenger's uniform on his back and a long box, bearing the label of a well-known florist, entered the courtroom. Finding no one there he stood the box near the door leading to Tiffany's office and disappeared.

Miss Mildred did not notice the tag on which was written Judge Conley's name. She thought it was for her employer and placed it on his desk.

Late Wednesday afternoon, Tiffany went to his office. Meantime his assistant had gone. He saw the box and noticed Judge Conley's name on the tag.

"How nice of the judge to send these," he commented.

He picked up the box and carried it home to Mrs. Tiffany. In a few moments a dozen deep red American Beauties were reposing in the most expensive vase in the Tiffany house.

"I haven't been sending your wife any flowers," declared the jurist.

Explanations followed and it was discovered that Mrs. Tiffany had gone astray. Perhaps it is just as well it is. For a judge cannot accept presents from those whose troubles he straightens out, not even those with whom he sees fit to crack a joke on the beach.

The donor was relieved of some embarrassment, because it is likely that the jurist would have found it consistent to send back the roses if he had received them.

Goes With House.

FORECLOSURES: GETS WIFE.

A peculiar family tangle is being unwound in the suit of Lot Barrett against F. E. Ebinger for $25,000 damages for alienation of the affections of the former's wife. The case is being heard by Judge McMahon.

The Barretts were married in London in 1908 and came to this country three years later. They knew Ebinger across the water and it was recommended by the Board of Public Works. It was referred to the Public Welfare Committee with instructions that Hamlin be induced to change his mind or that some good man be found to take his place.

Ebinger denies the charges made against him and avers that if Barrett has lost his wife's love his treatment of her was the cause of it.

OUT AND IN AGAIN.

FROM JAIL TO COURT.

"All I want is a square deal and a chance to make good," pleaded Joe Pepe, 19 years old, when he was taken before Judge Willis in Juvenile Court yesterday on a charge of having failed to provide for his young wife.

Pepe was sent to Whitehill eight years ago on a charge of having stolen $90 cents. He assumed the court that he had been honest ever since that occurrence.

Since that time he has had a multitude of various kinds of trouble. He was arrested for vagrancy three years ago in Portland. He and his wife got along all right until the Fourth of July of this year. He struck her and she caused him to be sent to jail. He explained to the court yesterday that he left because his wife went away and left him to care for the baby all day. He said that he had bad temper and it was away from him.

No sooner was he released from jail than he was taken before the Juvenile Commission on the recommendations of the probation officers. He was set free on a short order. He was then accused of having failed to provide for his wife. The charge on this charge will be heard today.

Early this week Foote was sitting in his home in San Bernardino when the doorbell rang. When Foote opened the door he was confronted by Boone. The latter looked surprised and turned to run, but Foote seized him by the coat collar and held him until the police arrived. Boone was brought back to Los Angeles to answer to the burglary charge.

DAME RUMOR BUSY.

TROUBLE FOLLOWS GOSSIP.

A complaint charging Mrs. George Eastern, No. 1906 Pasadena avenue, with disturbing the peace, was filed in Police Judge Frederickson's court yesterday on a charge of having failed to appear before Judge Craig and will be asked to appear for arraignment this morning.

She is charged by Mrs. W. H. Casslin seeking to recover $1000 from O. Darby. He alleges that he was employed by Darby, a wholesale vegetable dealer, to represent him in Esmeralda and Nye counties, Nev. He struck her and she caused him to be sent to jail. He explained to the court yesterday that he left because his wife went away and left him to care for the baby all day. He said that he had bad temper and it was away from him.

No sooner was he released from jail than he was taken before the Juvenile Commission on the recommendation of the probation officers. He was set free on a short order. He was then accused of having failed to provide for his wife. The charge on this charge will be heard today.

She is charged by Mrs. W. H. Heaney with having engaged in a wordy battle on the street with her, the cause of which, Mrs. Heaney declared, was reports reflecting on Mrs. Heaney, which the latter declared had been aided in their circulation by Mrs. Eastern.

Mrs. Heaney lives at No. 1908 Pasadena avenue, in the house adjoining that of Mrs. Eastern.

Mrs. Heaney declared that the reports had done her a great injury and were entirely unfounded.

Was Not a Masher.

Evidence against G. Russo, a South Broadway jeweler charged with disturbing the peace was found lacking by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday afternoon and Russo was released. He was said to have been followed from Second street to Fourth on Hill street Sunday night.

The jeweler declared the young woman was greatly mistaken in her suspicion. He said he did try to speak to her, thinking at the time she was a young woman who had given him a special order for some jewelry and he wished to tell her it had been completed and wished her to call at his place of business and examine it.

Take Dirt, Are Fired.

L. L. Chandler and M. A. Mann, foreman on the Barber Asphalt Company, charged by Inspector Doyle of the Board of Public Works with having taken gravel from Cotaia avenue, were fined $25 each by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday afternoon. H. C. Johnson and M. E. Johnson, employed by the Mutual Home Builders Association, were fined similar amounts for a similar offense.

Baker Lacks "Dough."

Guido Otoreto, a baker employed in bakery on Eastlake avenue, was held for trial in the Superior Court yesterday on a charge of having attacked Joe Pegoraro with a dough knife in the early part of the day. The attack is said to have taken place Monday. Bail was set at $1000 but not furnished.

RIDDLED WITH BULLETS.

FRESNO, Aug. 16.—An unknown Mexican was riddled with bullets by unknown murderers about 9 o'clock tonight at the edge of the business section of this city. Five shots were fired, three of which took effect. When found the man was dead with no clue to his identity. Four arrests were made.

barrels of steel and concrete storage. The steel tanks will cost 25 cents per barrel of capacity, and the concrete reservoirs for the ten years, exclusive of the cost of the tanks and reservoirs, is estimated at $13. cents, but conditions that Agency officials hope will prevail will reduce that amount. With the cost of the tanks and reservoirs the total cost for the ten years will be, as estimated, $2.40 cents, which, as stated before, is less than the present rate of cost for storage alone.

ALMOST COMPLETED. SURVEYORS IN FIELD.

Latest advices from Ventura are to the effect that the survey of the Guaranty pipe line is about finished. General Superintendent Turner announces the completion of the survey by the crew which started south from Maricopa several weeks ago, and that the surveyors working north from Ventura have reached a point about fifteen miles north of Matilija Springs, thus leaving about a mile untraversed. As yet untraversed, the surveyors will next commence work on the unit from Ventura south to Los Angeles and San Pedro.

Taylor says he has had no trouble in obtaining all the necessary right of way, and that no obstacles have been encountered. The Guaranty Pipe Line Company has leased a stone building near the post office in Ventura and will maintain an office there until its plant and tank farm are established. Financial Representative Magee and Superintendent Turner have taken up residence in the city. Financial Representative spent a couple of days looking over available sites in the outskirts of Ventura for a pumping station and storage tanks. The citizens of Ventura are enthusiastic over the outlook for cheap fuel and a good road from there to the rich San Joaquin Valley.

LOSING NO TIME. STANDARD IS BUSY.

Special Correspondent of The Times. FULLERTON, Aug. 17.—Since the Standard entered the Fullerton field it has lost no time in preparing for a big campaign of development work which will prove up more territory in case oil is found in the wells located than the producing area at present.

The Standard has extended its campaign for oil to the hills in the northern part of the city. Tuesday the company began moving machinery and material for a combination rotary rig on the land leased of the Coyote Oil and Land Company in sections 22 and 27. This lease covers 125 acres and was purchased by the company of which Jacob Stern is president. Los, Tousend and Sardoun. The well is less than a mile from the producing area.

According to the agreement steam must be turned into the rig by October 7. The Standard will shortly have four wells going in the field and is under way with other leases. It has been made. Material is being hauled on a three ton Packard auto truck, which arrived here Monday from Los Angeles and is one of the first in the field.

INVITATION TO FISHER. MAY COME TO LOS ANGELES.

The Chamber of Mines and Oil has sent an invitation to Walter Fisher, Secretary of the Interior, now on his way to Alaska, to visit Los Angeles when he returns to Washington. If an acceptance is received, the Chamber will arrange a dinner in honor of Secretary Fisher at which only public land questions affecting the mining and oil industries will be discussed.

The Oil Land Legislation Committee of the Chamber is composed of E. W. Morris, Frank Price, Robert Wilson, Russ Avery, W. W. Orcutt, Dr. Norman Bridge, W. B. Robb, R. D. Wade and F. V. Gordon.

News Notes and Personal.

Rudolph R. Pollak and Robert K. Pollock, petroleum engineers of San Francisco, have been spending several days in the Coalinga field on business for their firm.

Latest advices from the Vallecitos field are to the effect that the outcrop for the Range Sixteen Oil Company soon striking oil is very good. Soon the company is already in the oil sand. The Range Sixteen is down about 1800 feet.

Officials of the Consolidated Midway Chief Oil Company announce that the work on their properties in the Midway field and in Towsey's canyon is progressing in a satisfactory manner.

John T. Walker of Visalia, promoter and principal owner of the Walker Oil Company, with extensive holdings in the Devil's Den country, has sold the field with the intention of sinking a well. The strike at the Pluto has revived interest.

Richard Graham, superintendent of the Continental Petroleum Company, operating in the Coalinga field, has gone to Taft to look over the company's property in the Midway field.

A few weeks ago the Eureka and Oregon Railroad, reaching north from Eureka to Trinidad, was taken over for operation by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe. This makes the present northern terminal of the coast route only a short distance from Myrtle, the southern terminus on the construction from Oregon south, so that a connecting link will be in a comparatively short time.

The Santa Fe's interest in the line of San Francisco will give it trackage privileges which will allow it entry from San Francisco into Portland, thus making another factor in the transportation of the Northwest and bringing Southern California much closer to Washington, Oregon and British Columbia.

In New Hands. VIRGINIA DALE MINE IS BOUGHT.

JOHN M. TAYLOR AND O. S.
HICKEY GET IT.

Finely Equipped Mining Property
Is Secured from the Bird Estate for One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars—New Owners Will Add Mill at Once.

JOHN M. TAYLOR, a well-known mining man of this city, who has operated extensively in Nevada and California, and O. S. Hickey, an oil operator, yesterday closed their option on the Virginia Dale mine at Dale, San Bernardino county, forty miles south of Amboy. The price paid for the property is $150,000.

Taylor and Hickey on May 29, last, secured from the owners of the mine, the Bird estate, a ninety-day option on the Virginia Dale at the price named. Yesterday the deal was consummated and the papers placed in escrow. Mr. Taylor had been dickering for the property for the past year.

There are 20,000 tons of gold ore blocked out that will run $15 a ton, and the mine workings aggregate 3500 feet. There is a Lane mill now on the property and the new owners propose to at once add a ten-stamp mill. The Virginia Dale will immediately begin to produce. There was considerable competition in the effort to secure the property, a Redlands syndicate of capitalists being aggressively active in the pursuit of what is considered a fine gold mine. Messrs. Taylor and Hickey, however, were the winners in this battle of wits and money. The purchase of the Virginia Dale is the biggest bona-fide mining deal that has taken place in Southern California for some time.

MILLIONS FOR COAST ROUTE.

WORK TO START AT ONCE NORTH ON FIRST PORTION.

Line to Stretch on Ocean from Los Angeles to British Columbia.
Southern Pacific Preparing to Fill in Last Gap from San Francisco to Portland.

The Southern Pacific is to fill in the last gap of its already half constructed coast line from San Francisco to Portland, thus making an all coast route from Los Angeles to British Columbia. The first portion of the road, which, according to the statement of General Manager O'Brien, of the Harriman lines in the Northwest, is to stretch from Eugene, Or., on the main line of the Southern Pacific, to Coop Bay on the coast, will be constructed immediately at a cost of $8,000,000. When this is completed, or probably even before it is in operation, work will be started on the all-coast line from Myrtle, Or., to Trinidad, this State, the present northern terminal of the coast line north of San Francisco. If the statements made by the Hill officials during the winter can be taken as indicative of Hill's construction policy, it had been his idea to build south from Oregon to extend the Great Northern into Sacramento, and then south by way of an inland route to the Gulf by way of Los Angeles. The construction work immediately to be taken by the Southern Pacific, will diverge from the main line at Eugene and cross the Coast Range in a westerly direction to the mouth of the Siuslaw River, thence following the coast to Marshfield, on Coos Bay, and connecting with a small lumber line extending south as far as Myrtle.

A few weeks ago the Eureka and Oregon Railroad, reaching north from Eureka to Trinidad, was taken over for operation by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe. This makes the present northern terminal of the coast route only a short distance from Myrtle, the southern terminus on the construction from Oregon south, so that a connecting link will be in a comparatively short time.

The Santa Fe's interest in the line of San Francisco will give it trackage privileges which will allow it entry from San Francisco into Portland, thus making another factor in the transportation of the Northwest and bringing Southern California much closer to Washington, Oregon and British Columbia.

THROUGH SERVICE. SANTA FE'S NEW TRAINS.

The Santa Fe Railroad November 1 will start through trains between Los Angeles and San Francisco. It had been hoped when the new trains first decided upon to put them in operation early in the fall, but delay in getting the necessary equipment from the Pullman company made it necessary to postpone the date.

Special cars have been ordered to equip three trains. Each train will consist of a composite car with buffet and baggage compartment, a combination smoker and chair car, a diner, whatever sleepers are necessary and an observation car. The sleepers will be standard.

The tentative schedule contemplates leaving Los Angeles at 4 p.m. and arriving in San Francisco at 8:45 a.m., and the same on the reverse schedule. The Santa Fe now has no through service between this city and San Francisco.

No arrangements have been made toward starting through service between the Pacific and the Santa Fe, as that cannot be done until the new Coleman cutoff in Western Texas has been completed and put into shape for fast trains. When this is done the Santa Fe will have the short line between San Francisco and New Orleans, and only a little longer than the Southern Pacific between those points.

Bridge Builder Here.

J. A. L. Dubbs, E. C. Fleurie, W. G. Marston, E. J. Dubbs and L. A. Webb, all of Los Angeles, have organized the Sunset Oil Company with a capitalization of $200,000.

DEsertion ALLEGED.

Complaining that he had not lived with her since shortly after she came his bride four months ago, Mrs. Jessie L. Robert, 44 years old, had her husband, Frank L. Robert, 28, a passenger train conductor arrested yesterday afternoon. Deputy Constable Perdue found Robert working industrially in a garage at Pasadena. Justice Reeve held the prisoner in $150 bail for preliminary hearing.

Robert declined to state whether the disparity in ages entered into the complaint.

Colonist Rates Attractive.

The Salt Lake, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific are making special efforts to attract a large number of tourists on the one-way colonist train for one month beginning September 15. The rates will be $23 from Chicago, and $25 from Missouri River points with corresponding low rates from other localities.

New Officials Named.

An announcement has been made of the appointment of W. M. Seaman as superintendent of dining car for the Salt Lake in this city, succeeding E. E. Kennedy, resigned. P. F. Dunn has been appointed traveling freight agent of the Western Pacific at Fresno. P. J. Kennedy has been named telegraph communication agent for the Santa Fe, with headquarters at Galveston.

MARBLE GAME BASIS OF SUIT

INVESTOR ALLEGES PROPERTY IS USED FOR BAIT.

Asserts He Bought Stock in One Concern Believing He Was Entering Another, but Only Became Entangled in Lawsuit With Mother of Promoter on Note.

That Drew Haven Dunn, promoter, with offices in the Higgins block, used the property of the Inyo Marble Company as bait, then sold H. L. Thornton $2500 worth of stock in the Inyo Consolidated Marble Company, claiming it owned the land, was the charge of Dept.-Dist. Atty. Blair in Justice Summerfield's Court yesterday afternoon.

Thornton alleges Dunn got his money under false pretenses. The hearing will be resumed this morning.

An imposing array of counsel, panoramic pictures, kodak views, maps, record of land transfers and alluring printed matter setting forth that big profits awaited prompt investors, figured in yesterday's proceedings.

Thornton, who is hard of hearing and was questioned through a speaking tube, testified that he was attracted to the Inyo proposition from his home in Ohio. Dunn furnished him with literature and he went to Inyo county to look over the marble quarries and improvements. He was well satisfied with what he saw, paid $2500 and intended to go deeper when prospects would seem to warrant it.

He said he found that the property he thought he was acquiring an interest in was and had for years been owned by the Inyo Marble Company. Dunn, Thornton said, told him it had been secured for $68,000 by the Pacific Consolidated Stone Company, of which the Inyo Consolidated Marble Company was a subsidiary, and that there were ready market大理石 worth $200,000.

The property looked to be worth the $68,000 Dunn mentioned, and the marble was certainly there, but the stock certificates Thornton got, he asserts, had no call on any part of either.

The maps, pictures and records bearing on the land of the original company were identified by Thornton as being of the quality he had visited and thought he was paying his money to get an interest in.

Thornton didn't understand he was to benefit from all of the property, but did think he was to be part owner of much that was improved.

Atty. William H. Hamilton, of San Francisco, president of the Inyo Marble Company, identified some of the pictures and maps as descriptive of his company's property.

Vigorous objection was entered by Dunn's counsel, Gortner, Carter and Fowler, to witness telling whether or not his company owned the land. The demand records had been produced to prove this and that Hamilton's testimony was irrelevant and incompetent.

Dept.-Dist.-Atty. Blair produced a map, which he declared was a good and sufficient record, and finally got the answer he sought.

Through remarks by Atty. Carter it developed that Thornton was on the verge of investing to the extent

BRIDGING THE GULF.
It is said that a reconciliation may be effected whereby Newport society will accept as an equal a chauffeur who eloped with an heiress. This arrangement will depend entirely upon the chauffeur. Given the wealth to cultivate the graces of leisure, nothing is accomplished without a subject capable of accepting the polish of culture. The real values of all society are affected by wealth only in the degree of opportunities brought. If a man be ignorant or inconsistent he is a boor, and the acceptance of society will not alter his disposition.

WHAT'S THE USE?
A San Bernardino dentist faces a charge of bitter wrong to a young woman who had been missing for fifteen months and who was found in the doctor's apartments—the mother of his child. It is strange that a woman and a man who care enough for one another to live in a relation so intimate and holy would not add to that relation the comfort, convenience and respect which conforming to the laws of society alone would bring. It might be true that certain rare souls might claim what they would call freedom at the expense of society's condemnation, but why the price? To conform is to gain everything and to lose nothing. Where then is the profit of social snarling?

WHAT IS A MEAL?
A committee appointed by the Police Commission will try to find out what constitutes a meal, the inquiry bearing upon the liquor licenses of restaurants. The committee's task is not simple. A meal is not the same to any two persons. The man who makes his dinner—a sandwich between a cocktail and a cigar will order very differently from the man who eats because he is hungry. There are men in the world who regard a good dinner as something more than an excuse to take an appetizer, more than the foundation for a smoke. A meal ought to be the amount of food necessary to give the body that support out of which one can do his best work.

MARY WALKER'S FINGER.
Dr. Mary Walker, who is not as young as she is notable, has offered to sell her right forefinger that it may be grafted upon the hand of a young pianist. If her offer should be accepted and the operation prove to be a success, an amusing line of reflections will be opened to speculative minds. Will the finger of a practical woman obey the impulse dictated by the heart and brain of an artist? If the artist survives the woman who sells the finger, will the finger be affected by the death of its former owner? What part of Mary Walker will actually live in the physical sense if the rest of her body succumbs to the great conqueror while her finger on the hand of another woman goes on through sunny years interpreting the deathless compositions of the masters?

TRICKS IN THE TRADE.
It would be interesting to step behind the scenes and learn exactly what part of the political promises made by the present administration Gov. Johnson and his organization are really trying to fulfill. It certainly looks strange that many of their pet measures seem to be in the way of failure through minor errors of legislative clerks. We rather suspect that the present hullaballoo of sacrificing certain constitutional amendments to legislative mistakes has for its motive the suppression of perhaps only one or two measures which the administration has reasons for turning down. The political game is always a condition that never admits of theory and some of the happiest ideals of alleged good government seem likely to be lost in the present exceedingly practical shuffle.

PUNCH'S DIAMOND JUBILEE.

Our esteemed British contemporary, the London Punch, has just celebrated its seventieth anniversary. To the general American reader the rather heavy satire and somewhat stilted style of the world's oldest comic paper are apt to be caviare, yet no journal will judge the veterans of Bouvier street its position in the literature of the English-speaking people.

Punch has always been clean and wholesome and honest; it has exposed the shams of society and the humbugs of the demagogue fearlessly and without favor. Along humorously critical lines it has consistently upheld the best traditions of the press. As in the writings of Mark Twain serious eyes peer beneath the cap and bells. Among the contributors to this famous weekly are numbered such world-famous writers and artists as Douglas Jerrold, Thackeray, Tom Hood, Du Maurier, Charles Keene, John Leech, Tenniel, Burnand and Phiz May. Nor can we forget that two such stirring poems as "The Bridge of Sighs" and "The Song of the Shirt" were given to the public through the columns of Punch.

But the famous contributors have not always made the greatest hits. A little squib from an unknown paragrapher, used as a space-filler, has become a classic. "Punch's advice to those about to marry. Don't." Almost as telling is the famous satire on the channelling of the Lancashire lads. "Oo Be That Bill?" "O, Be a Stranger." "Eave 'Arf a Brick at 'im!" Scattered all through the back numbers of Mr. Punch's seventy-year-old paper are many such happy inspirations.

The Times wishes the old gentleman many happy returns of his birthday and trusts he will find as many clever contributors in the future as he has found in the past.

END OF THE CALHOUN CASE.
The dismissal by Judge Lawlor yesterday, in pursuance of the order of the Court of Appeals, of the famous bribery cases against Patrick Calhoun, Thornwell Mullally and Tirey L. Ford marks the collapse and final of the fiercest and most brutal persecution by means of the prostitution of judicial machinery in American annals.

Rapacious millionaires united with vindictive labor unionists and unscrupulous politicians in a conscienceless coalition to ruin Patrick Calhoun, the head of San Francisco's street railroad system—to crush him financially, to send him to the penitentiary, probably to kill him and to bring his family to the grave.

We doubt if ever in American history a captain of industry was forced to wage such a long, cruel, exhausting, life-tapping war for self-preservation. Were not Calhoun a giant in physique, in brains and in finance his enemies would have broken him. The terribly impressive feature of the case is its illustration of the dangers that may come from the dominance of the vengeful millionaire in government.

The victory of Calhoun is complete. The fight probably has shortened his days upon earth and has cost him a fortune; but he has the satisfaction of pointing out that, with all the villainy, all the subornation and all the trickery that were brought into play, his enemies never were able to produce in court one scintilla of evidence connecting him with the crime of bribery with which he was charged. The whole prosecution was an attempt to convict through clamor and assumption.

The final chapter of the celebrated graft cases of San Francisco having been written, one may sum up the results of the prosecutions in a nutshell:

1. Every one of the thirteen bumbling Supervisors, who confessed their crimes, permitted to go scott free, through the immunity granted by Francis J. Heney and his coadjutors.

2. Gene Schmitz, the bumbling Mayor, head of the infamous gang, at large and never to be punished, as a result of Heney's facility in blundering.

3. Abe Ruef, the political boss, wors and cleverest of the lot, in the State prison at last, after narrowly missing an escape similar to that of Schmitz.

4. Failure of the attempt to besmirch and convict a large number of San Francisco's business men who were recklessly and malignant assailed for political effect.

5. The cases against Calhoun and his associates thrown out of court for all time.

6. The hook for Heney.

ADMISSION TO THE UNION.

A one might almost wish that Congress will not agree upon a bill that President Taft will sign for the admission of Arizona, and that there may in some way be submitted to the voters of the whole country the issue whether any new State shall be admitted with a Constitution infected with the poison of the recall of the judiciary. The mistake that is made by those who mislead Arizona to adhere to her allegiance to the recall of the judiciary is that admission to the Union is a right, when in truth it is only a privilege, which is entirely within the discretion of Congress to grant or withhold.

"A State," say the advocates of unlimited admission, "ought not to be admitted for political reasons." But the history of our country shows that no State was ever admitted except for political reasons, or unless it was expected that her admission would add in Congress, and in the electoral college, to the strength of the party in power.

Vermont formed a State Constitution on December 24, 1777, but it was more than thirteen years after its adoption before she was admitted to the Union on March 4, 1791. Kentucky came in 1792, Tennessee in 1796 and Ohio in 1802. There was then an interval of ten years during which no States were admitted. Louisiana was admitted in 1812 and Oklahoma in 1890.

Mississippi applied for admission along with Louisiana, but an enabling act to provide for her admission, although it passed the House, was defeated in the Senate on April 17, 1812. Five years later, on December 10, 1817, she was admitted.

Illinois was admitted in 1818 and Alabama a year later in 1819. Maine came in on March 15, 1820.

Missouri was refused admission in 1818 by both houses of Congress. In 1819 she made another application. The enabling act known as the Missouri Compromise was passed March 6, 1820, but the Constitution formed under it was rejected by the House February 14, 1821. On March 2, 1821, Congress passed a conditional resolution to admit. The condition was accepted by the Legislature and Governor of Missouri and in August, 1821, by proclamation of the President Missouri was admitted as a State.

After the admission of Missouri the process of entering the Union by virtue of proceedings under enabling acts fell into disuse. Arkansas was admitted in June, 1836, and Michigan in 1837, with Constitutions framed by conventions called by Territorial Legislatures. Florida adopted a similar method and petitioned for admission in 1839, in 1840 and again in 1842, but did not succeed in securing admission until March, 1845. Texas was annexed in 1845. Iowa applied for admission in 1844 with a Constitution framed without an enabling act. Congress passed an act for her admission with certain conditions which the people of Iowa rejected. In 1846 the people framed a new Constitution under which Iowa was admitted the same year. In the case of Wisconsin Congress returned to the practice of providing for admission by an enabling act. The Constitution created under the act was rejected. It was amended and on May 20, 1848, Wisconsin was admitted. California was admitted in 1850, under a Constitution framed by a convention called by Gen. Riley, Minnesota, under an enabling act, entered the Union in 1858, and Oregon, without an enabling act, was admitted in 1859. Kansas, without any enabling act, framed the Topeka Free-State Constitution in 1855. The Leavenworth pro-slavery Constitution was formed in 1857. Congress passed an act to admit Kansas under the Leavenworth Constitution, conditional upon its being ratified by the people. The people rejected it. In 1859 a third Constitution was formed at Wyandotte and in January, 1861, Kansas was admitted. West Virginia was admitted in 1863 without an enabling act. Nevada formed a Constitution in December, 1863, in a convention called by the Territorial Legislature. The people rejected it. Congress passed an enabling act March 21, 1864. A new Constitution was formed under it and on October 31, 1864, Nevada was admitted.

An enabling act to admit Nebraska passed Congress just before its adjournment July, 1866. President Andrew Johnson pocketed the bill. Another act was passed in January, 1867. The President vetoed it. Congress passed it over his veto and Nebraska entered the Union.

An enabling act for Colorado was passed March 21, 1864. President Johnson vetoed the Constitution that was framed under it. Another act was passed in 1867, which was also vetoed by the President. No further effort was made by Colorado until 1875, when an enabling act was passed, and in 1876 she came into the Union.

North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington were under Congressional enabling acts admitted in November, 1889.

Idaho and Wyoming first framed Constitutions. Enabling acts were passed afterwards and both were admitted in July, 1890. Utah, under an enabling act, came into the Union in 1896 and Oklahoma in 1907.

It will be noted that in many instances Congress has exercised a right to impose special conditions sometimes before a Constitution is formed and sometimes after its formation as a prerequisite to admission of a State. And there is no instance of a State being admitted unless it was believed that her admission would strengthen the party in power. The Democrats generally voted against the admission of Kansas, of Nebraska and of Colorado on this ground and they voted to admit Utah on the mistaken belief that she would be Democratic.

The people of Arizona have for thirty years, whenever they desired admission to the Union, persistently elected a Congressional delegate who was of opposite politics to the administration. Arizona has usually been Democratic. She has elected a Republican delegate only when Democracy was in the saddle at Washington.

The discussion by the press and by the people which will follow the veto message of President Taft will prove of advantage to the voters of California in that it will enlighten them so as to better enable them to vote understandingly upon the question of anarchizing the Constitution of our State by placing therein the dangerous and disastrous doctrine of a recall of the judiciary.

CONGESTED TRAFFIC.

Once again it is pertinent to draw attention to the crowded condition of our streets in the downtown district during the hours of busiest travel. On Main and Spring streets every evening the line of motionless street cars' lengths with the lengthening shadows. Viewed from the big captive balloon, this yellow streak of stranded cars, relieved with patches of red magenta, is an artistic piece of coloring—a wonderful study in still life. But to hubby, longing to return to the bosom of his expectant family, the picture calls for oaths, not loud—because of the police, but deep—on account of the spelling of his supper.

Still each car clings tenaciously to its overhead wire, waiting like a sailing vessel in the doldrums to catch some favoring breeze; "as idle as a painted ship upon a painted ocean." Once in a while a barnacle is detached and creeps painfully and laboriously from its resting place on the corner of Second and Main to another snug berth prepared for it between Second and Third. Then the great calm returns, the delicious peace of eventide settles again on motor-man and conductor. The yellow and red dragon wags its tail and goes to sleep once more.

Of course the man in a hurry can always walk. Yet each one lives in hope that the log-jam will be broken at the psychological moment and the stream resume its usual flow. Sometimes it does, sometimes it doesn't. Thus an element of chance is added to evening car-line travel, demoralizing to our younger brethren. A wager could be laid as to how many times a man of ordinary physique could walk from the post-office to the Huntington building and back while a Pasadena short-line car was attempting to plow its stodgy way through the Sargasso Sea lying between Sixth and Main streets. Meanwhile each belated traveler must, aboard the anchored car, "sit like patience on a monument, smiling at grief"—unless he happens to be hanging onto a strap. The strapper never smiles.

THE LORDS OF CREATION.BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Prithie, messieurs, are you quite satisfied with yourselves as you are? I ask it to all humility.

Are you content with the showing your six ounces more brain has made, do you find in your persons that sense of perfection which your general, individual and collective attitude towards woman would suggest?

A short time ago a little book called the "Cynic's Posy" was sent me with the author's compliments and I have perused it with great care:

It is a brilliant collection of witty epigrams and two-thirds of them are against woman. Rather cheap, don't you think?

Here are a few specimens:

"Many women remind us of charming antique statuary who have had parts wrongly restored."

"The best way in which women can help literature is by not adding to it."

"Women lament that they can kill everything in a man but his ideal."

"A woman recently gave birth to a blind, deaf mute and stated seven reasons why he should become a charge upon the community."

"Marriage said the husband, is not as bad as I thought. (His wife's eyes shone.) No, he continued, it is worse."

"For a perfect marriage the woman should have no soul; very little intellect and not much sense."

"A woman has no business to write at all unless she is very ignorant or very handsome. Then she is either beneath criticism or beyond it."

"A woman loves to be discussed as an authoress, poetess, actress, but she dislikes to be discussed as a female."

"Man is the tide; woman the whirlpool."

"We can understand a man marrying twice. He does so to retrieve his initial error. But after that he sinks for the third time."

"Judgment from a woman is like blood from a butterfly. Difficult to obtain, and valueless."

"Quite a number of very respectable people think the wrong sex was chosen for the devil."

"There are really only three professions open to women. In one of these she excels."

"We can no more conceive there existing a great sculptress or poetess than we can conceive a fly leading a double life."

"Nothing strengthens a woman's self-confidence like a proposal."

"Faustine" was left to herself. Save a friend of her own sex, a woman can have no worse companion."

"Woman will be the last thing civilized by man."

And so on. There are pages and pages of them, all deucedly smart. And as each of you men read them you'll chuckle knowingly and mentally indorse all those sentiments.

Well, that's all right. But what about yourselves, messieurs? Splendid lords of creation that you are, you irresistible Adonis.

A woman looks in a mirror and wistfully tries to improve the picture. A man looks in a mirror and is eminently satisfied. No further improvement is possible. Those fine square padded shoulders, those odd strangled necks, those weird, unsightly hats, those tight socks and smug ties, and oh, those gay-top trousers and that coyly-trimmed mustache, are they not the quintessential essence of the perfection of things?

Of course they are. And those cactus garden chins. Why, to be sure they are clean at least once a week. And if they are not, the lord of creation can afford to take liberties with his superb person. Woman in her humility would never dare risk that. And nine out of every ten men don't wash their ears properly. It is those men who take a cold bath every morning who are the worst offenders—they have to be so quick, the poor brave heroes.

Now this matrimonial joke that is so exclusively masculine. Have you ever seen the abject attitude of the men at a leap-year ball? Don't you, sir, remember your sickly terror that you might perchance be a wall-flower? The paltry subterfuge you descended to in order to insure that the girls should ask you for at least one dance? Would you consent for just one short year to forego your prerogative of selecting your bride and instead allow the women to select their husbands?

Do you suppose you would come through the ordeal with dignity? These poor, pitiful women whom you so love to ridicule have sustained quite a commendable amount of dignity through the centuries under the most appalling circumstances.

And above all, messieurs, are you content with your pluck? Are you sincerely of the opinion that courage is a concomitant of your make-up? When you are a little bit sick, now? Or even when it is merely a matter of wearing a straw hat when felt ones are in season?

And are you really so superior to all the ladies of pretty clothes and such vanities? What about those funny secret societies organized for the express purpose of giving you a gorgeous uniform to piroquette in? There's no harm in it, you know. Why don't you own up to it like an honest man? You all affect to despise Bernard Shaw because he frankly confesses that, in his opinion, he is the best ever—and that's why all the women appreciate him. At least he has courage.

Mais, oui, messieurs, you are the great and superb bluff, the glorious hypocrite, the colossal impostor! In her heart every woman knows it.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION HAS BIG KICK COMING.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—That the American Association baseball magnates will refuse to renew the ten-year agreement now in existence among clubs in the national association of baseball clubs, which expires September 6, is the prevailing opinion in baseball circles here. It is claimed that the agreement works a great disadvantage to the clubs in the association.

Under the present classification, the Southern Association, the Western League and the Pacific Coast League are not on equal standing with the American Association and the Eastern League, as far as the buying, selling and drafting of players and the protection of property rights are concerned. The American Association Club owners object to being placed on the same footing with the three leagues named, for the reason, it is asserted, that these clubs do not have much more than half of the playing population that the association teams have.

The drafting of one player by the major leagues from each team in the association is not the only hardship worked on these clubs. The other is the hard work of building up winning teams, since they are unable to go out and compete with the major league clubs in buying in the market, and they are practically prohibited from placing promising material with teams in other leagues. Any player bought is subject to draft and any player placed with a smaller league may be grabbed the same way unless he is returned to the American Association clubs before August 20, while the major league manager places a player of promise with any of the minor clubs with a string to him.

It is understood the American Association magnates will demand that they be placed on a more equal footing with the American and National League teams or they will refuse to continue under the present agreement.

MOTION PICTURE

Auditorium Company in the Throes of Film Drama.

Grand Hopes Mingle With Great Plannings.

Marjorie Rambeau Grows More Filmy Each Day.

"Any you a motion picture?"
You can get action on this question from any member of the Auditorium stock company, from Nat C. Goodwin and Marjorie Rambeau at the top, to Charlie, the discharged Goodwin chauffeur at the bottom of the ladder of fame.

A film atmosphere pervades the Auditorium. An unmistakable odor of high finance emanates from behind the proscenium arch. It requires no bloodhound to trace the emanation to its lair in the stellar dressing-rooms on the O. P. side of the Auditorium stage.

Mysteriously whispering groups that melt as you approach and dissolve into their thespian components, are murmuring "mystic" and the echoes bring back such sounds as "bona-fide," "royalties," "dividends."

Between entrances the members of the company discourse of preferred and promotion stock, first mortgage and debenture bonds, deferred annuities, dividends, corporate powers, limited liability and interest coupons.

Nat C. Goodwin spends two hours each day in rehearsals, two and one-half in performances and the remainder of the twenty-four in composing and selling his art to the masses before the all-seeing eye of the biograph. No longer are the fine citizens of the briny deep disturbed by his salt casting. No more hours of idling upon the sands. Neglected the garden hose and the punching bag.

The pictures—the thing—and don't you know it?—is Marjorie Rambeau.

Marjorie Rambeau grows more filmy each day. Alas and alack! There are now reels and reels of her. Nor is that sad tale the worst there is to tell. Marjorie would a business man be.

Such at least is the opinion expressed in what by one can should know.

Marjorie's mother, Mrs. Rambeau: "Marjorie is all right," says Mrs. Rambeau, "but," continues she, "one has to think of the future."

Alas that one should have to think of the future. Time was when the motion picture stage and all who performed thereon was a management—rehearsals and such like.

"Just in the middle of a rehearsal," says he, "along comes a fire-engine, a couple of circus vans and a brewery wagon. Then it's—"

"Whoopee, let's have some moving pictures. You ever get in with Bill that way?"

He never did like motion pictures. Even as a child he never moved while being photographed. He doesn't like to see others doing it either.

He says it interferes with the little desire of the management—rehearsals and such like.

vival of "Romeo and Juliet" with Miss Illington in the clinging robes and exquisite fervors of the immortal Italian sweetheart. Then look for arch loveliness and wonderful gowning on the part of the leading lady. The show is a picture of vivid light effects from Mr. Brunton.

With these plans and considerations that may become plans, the Burbank management rests for the present. The star is provided for a month or so, at least.

The show at the Hyman this week is one that is perfectly in keeping with the character of the entertainment generally presented under the management of Arthur S. Hyman.

Brown and Brown, "The Mischievous Girl," a rollicking, saucy comedy act that puts the audience in immediate good humor. Much of their material is new and most of it is first class.

Helen Drew, a beautiful girl with a winsome smile, is a singing and talking comedienne in the largest sense of the word. Miss Drew's act has won merit for its originality; it is a comedy concise and clear cut. As a singer she is a pronounced success.

Liddy and Pony, a couple of little girls in a character change, singing and dancing act, show versatility and pretty costumes. Their act is bright and snappy, though not of the sort that makes an instant appeal to the good-natured audience.

Joseph de Kunu, Hungarian instrumentalist, plays several selections on the cimbalom, an instrument that greatly resembles the American piano, though it is played with wooden mallets which strike against the metal strings. Mr. de Kunu has for six years special soloist with Rigo's orchestra. His programme is interspersed with popular selections.

These first run pictures, all in harmony with the rest of the programme and embracing a variety of interesting subjects, are the Hyman orchestra, playing the vaudeville numbers in the best manner, conclude the entertainments.

Burr McIntosh and the Belasco Company are now putting the finishing touches to "A Gentleman from Mississippi," and there is every indication that the first performance Monday night will be the really brilliant event of the Belasco summer season.

"A Gentleman from Mississippi" comes pretty near to holding this record for stock play royalty prices in this country—it certainly does in Los Angeles. "The College Widow" cost fifteen hundred dollars for a single week in this city; such a splendid play as "Great Divide" and "The Man in the House" each drew a weekly rental of one thousand dollars.

"Peter Pan" has for a week had the audacious royalty record of the seven hundred and fifty dollar mark, but now comes "A Gentleman from Mississippi," and for its use at Belasco next week, Manager William A. Brady will receive eighteen hundred dollars from the Mordisco

Company.

The remaining performances of "Gentleman" this week will be the last times that Magrane will be seen at the Belasco this summer. Next week Miss Magrane will return to New York to resume her place at the head of Frederic Thompson's "Gentleman" Company which will
